2 Utilities Regulatory Authority, in consultation with the Consumer 3 Counsel, shall conduct a study that analyzes the depiction and 4 description of charges on electric bills for residential electric customers.
5 Such study shall consider (1) whether such charges are adequately
6 depicted and described to inform a customer of the components of each 7 such charge, (2) whether moving any component of any such charge into 8 another charge would enhance a customer's understanding of such 9 component or more accurately reflect the nature of such component,
10 and (3) any other methods to increase transparency concerning the costs
11 and benefits of programs funded through such charges.

12 (b) If the chairperson finds that the depiction or description of any

18 redesigned. Any such recommendations concerning a residential 19 customer electric bill redesign may include, but need not be limited to,
20 the (1) renaming of any residential electric bill charge category, (2)

23 recommendations concerning a redesign of customer electric bills
24 pursuant to this section, the chairperson shall solicit written comment
